There was no change in the status of the Projektierungsburo (Design Bureau) in Berlin-Friedrichsfelde. Only plans for standardized temporary quarters and temporary cultural buildings were being made 1.

It appeared to source that no clear line of action was followed at the Ministry of the Interior, and that there was an atmosphere of general uncertainty.² Major Egon Mueller was made chief of the Planning Department. Designs for hospitals with a capacity of 200 men scheduled to be built in Koenigsbrueck, Pasewalk and Dresden will probably be drawn up.³
